THE NEED

Front line workers play a pivotal role in the lives of children in foster care or are at risk of being placed in foster care. They are particularly well positioned to improve the services and outcomes for these youth. Insufficient training and lack of support are the leading causes of worker turnover and overall workforce instability. These factors directly contribute to the high numbers of children in this country who remain in foster care too long.

There are nearly 400,000 young people in the United States foster care system. These children are disproportionately vulnerable to homelessness, incarceration, and lack of educational opportunities as a result of their extended time in the system. Children’s Corps greatly increases at-risk children's chances for success by reducing worker turnover and infusing the child welfare system with dedicated, well trained and supported professionals.

“As a Children’s Corps member, every day you have the chance to say or do one thing to help families get back together.”
~ Kate Reece, CC 2012

Children’s Corps members currently impact nearly 1,500 at-risk children and families each year in New York City and will reach thousands more as the program expands.

Developing the Child Welfare Workers of Today and the Leaders of Tomorrow

A program of Fostering Change for Children
What is Children’s Corps?

The Children’s Corps program offers a unique employment and career opportunity for individuals passionate about making a difference in the lives of children, youth and families, particularly those impacted by the child welfare system. The program improves child welfare outcomes by selecting the right individuals for this work, offering extensive pre-service training, and providing on-going support throughout members’ 2-year commitment and beyond. Children’s Corps is a place to accomplish personal and professional goals and develop the skills to become a future leader in child welfare.

The Children’s Corps Summer Training Academy, held for 4 weeks in July, builds foundational skills to prepare for child welfare work. The training is dynamic, interactive, and offers shadowing of current workers and lots of team building. After completion of the training, members are placed in various frontline positions at agencies in New York City and Westchester, working in foster care, preventive services, and residential settings.

Benefits of Children’s Corps

Children’s Corps offers its members a rich experience in which to work, learn, grow, and make a difference in the lives of vulnerable families. Benefits include:

- A full-time job in NYC with full salary and benefits.
- A very close and supportive network of professionals, peers, and alumni.
- Dynamic, engaging, and comprehensive pre-service training.
- Access to monthly meetings, peer-to-peer support, an online resource group, and professional mentors.

Children’s Corps Alumni

Children’s Corps alumni continue to develop their careers and affect change through a variety of professional tracks including clinical practice, policy or legal work, social entrepreneurship, and agency administration. Many pursue graduate degrees in these tracks. Others continue working, often with promotions to supervisory, administrative and/or senior caseworker positions.

Would YOU make a good Corps member?

The ideal candidate is:

- Passionate about working to make a difference in the lives of at-risk children and families.
- Eager to join a strong, supportive professional network and to develop child welfare expertise and skills.
- Confident and motivated to make a 2-year commitment to working in child welfare.
- Interested in a career in the non-profit/social justice sector.

Eligibility Requirements:

- A minimum of a BA degree before summer training begins.
- U.S. citizenship or permanent residency.
- Some available positions require a Master’s degree in Social Work or Mental Health Counseling.

Individuals with diverse academic and professional backgrounds, social work experience, and/or bi-lingual ability are highly encouraged to apply!

Applications are posted online in mid-December.
